The Systemic Risk Council hereby invites contributions and opinions in relation to the Council's work on initiatives and indicators for the property market. For that purpose a discussion paper is attached in which the Council raises specific questions that responses may wish to answer.

The responses will feed into the Council's work to examine initiatives in the financial area – so-called macro-prudential initiatives - that could be relevant if the current growth in property prices in parts of the Danish property market continues and when such initiatives should be implemented. The Council's mandate does not comprise general economic policy, e.g. finance, tax and monetary policy.

All contributions and opinions are welcome. They should be submitted by Tuesday 22 November 2016 to mail@risikoraad.dk. They will be published at the Council's webpage after the Council's meeting 13 December 2016. Any questions concerning the discussion paper should be addressed to mail@risikoraad.dk.

Kind regards,

Governor Lars Rohde
Chairman of the Systemic Risk Council
